The Southern Utah Practical Shooting Range is a premiere shooting sports facility located in sunny St. George, UT. Our range hosts a large variety of events, from local matches in USPSA, 3 Gun, Action Steel, Rimfire, and other disciplines to major competitions and national championships. We have an extremely active shooting community and an excellent volunteer core to manage events. For several years we have been offering free training to the local community and anyone willing to attend as a weekly handgun mastery clinic. We also offer advanced competition and self defense training at a negligible cost to the students. These programs have been highly successful, with many thousands of happy students learning how to safely operate firearms and be great competitors. They are paid for with donations at the range, volunteers willing to share their time and experience, and the generous support of the industry. Everything that happens at the SUPS range is designed to expand the shooting sports and firearms industry in a safe, professional environment. If your company would be interested in supporting our range activities beyond the major match schedule, please let us know.
